7.1.2. Report of the board of directors

The board of directors prepares a report for each capital increase, through contribution in cash and in kind which more in particular:

- justifies the issue price; and
- describes the consequences of the operation for the economic and membership rights of the shareholders.

Report of the statutory auditor, an external auditor or an accountant

The statutory auditor or, if there is no statutory auditor, an external auditor or an external accountant designated by the board of directors, assesses in a report whether the financial and accounting information included in the report of the board of directors is, in all essential aspects, truthful and sufficient to inform the general meeting that must vote on the proposal.

7.1.3. Unless the resolution regarding issue of shares determines otherwise, the fractional value of all issued shares without nominal value of the same type is identical, regardless of the fact if they are issued over, below or at the fractional value of shares of the same type.

The report as intended in article 7.1.2 of these articles of association prepared by the statutory auditor or the external auditor or accountant designated by the

7.3. Capital increase in kind

- 7.3.1. Contribution in kind only qualifies for consideration through shares, if it consists of assets that can, according to economic standards, be valued, with the exclusion of obligations to perform work or to supply services.

Shares that, either in whole or in part, correspond with a contribution in kind are to be paid up in full within a period of five years after the resolution regarding the capital increase.

- 7.3.2. In case of a capital increase through contribution in kind, the report to be prepared by the board of directors as intended in article 7.1.2 of these articles of association must moreover

The board of directors will communicate a draft of the aforementioned report to the statutory auditor or, if there is no statutory auditor, an external auditor designated by the board of directors.

- 7.3.3. The statutory auditor or, if there is no statutory auditor, an external auditor designated by the board of directors, assesses in the report as intended in Section 179, § 1, Subsection 2, of Book 7, the valuation and the relevant valuation methods used by the board of directors.

The said report particularly regards the description of each and every contribution in kind and the valuation methods applied.

The report indicates whether the value determinations to which the said methods lead, at least correspond with the number and the nominal value or, failing a nominal value, the fractional value and, as the occasion arises, the issue premium of shares to be issued for the contribution.

The report indicates what real consideration is provided in exchange of the contribution.

- 7.3.4. In its report, to which the report of the statutory auditor or of the external auditor is attached, the board of directors indicates, if applicable, why it deviates from the conclusion of the latter report.

- 11.2. In all other instances the following rules apply, without prejudice to the application of the law:
 - a) Appointment of a joint representative
The owners of one or more shares as an undivided interest, the bare owners and the usufructuaries or, in general, any and all persons who are, due to one cause or the other, jointly entitled to one and the same share must, for the exercise of the associated rights, be represented by one and the same person.
The complete identity of the said person is by all jointly entitled persons communicated to the chairman of the board of directors or to the sole director by registered letter addressed to the seat of the company.
If agreement cannot be reached between the jointly entitled persons then any party can address the competent court and request appointment of a joint representative of a provisional administrator (hereinafter both referred to as: the “joint representative”).

If the preferential subscription right is not exercised, the said right expires, without it fully or partly inuring to the benefit of one or more of the jointly entitled persons, without prejudice to the right of the jointly entitled persons to transfer the said preferential subscription right.
 - * Shares in bare ownership and usufruct
The exercise of the preferential subscription right is in principle vested in the bare owner. If the bare owner does not rely on the said right then it is vested in the usufructuary. and Associations Code, acquire shares or profit-sharing certificates of the company, either directly or through a person who acts in his own name but for the account of the company.

The authorisation is granted for a period of three (3) years, to be counted from the announcement in the Supplements to the Belgian Official Gazette of the amendment of the articles of association pursuant to a resolution regarding renewal of the authorisation by the extraordinary general meeting, if the said acquisition is required to prevent the company from incurring an imminent serious disadvantage.

The said authorisation can be renewed for periods of three years.

The board of directors must inform the general meeting that follows the acquisition of the shares of:

TITLE V: MANAGEMENT

Article 15: Board of directors - Appointment - Dismissal

15.1. The company is managed by a collegial board of directors, referred to as the board of directors.

15.2. The directors are natural or legal persons, which may or may not be a shareholder.

15.3. If a legal person is appointed as a member of the board of directors then it appoints a natural person as its permanent representative who is charged with the execution of the said mandate in the name and for the account of the legal person.

This permanent representative must comply with the same conditions as the legal person and is jointly and severally liable as if he personally executed the relevant mandate in his own name and for his own account.

The rules regarding conflicts of interest are, as the occasion arises, applicable to the permanent representative.

Free translation from the Dutch version. The Dutch version will be the only binding version.

The permanent representative cannot sit on the relevant body in his own name or as the permanent representative of another legal person - director.

The legal person cannot dismiss the permanent representative without simultaneously appointing a successor.

- 15.4. The board of directors has at least five (5) directors, however with the understanding that if, and as long as, the company has fewer than three shareholders, the board of directors can consist of two (2) directors.
As long as the board of directors consists of two (2) directors, each and every provision that allocates a decisive vote to a member of the board of directors loses its effect by operation of law.
- 15.5. Only the general meeting is authorised to determine the number of directors.
Directors can, in their capacity of director, not be bound by an employment agreement with the company.
- 15.6. The directors are appointed by the general meeting.
They are appointed for at most four (4) years, however their mandate can be renewed without limitation.
The mandate of director comes to an end by operation of law when the general meeting of the year in which the holder of the same attains or shall attain the age of seventy (70) is closed.
- 15.7. The general meeting can at any time terminate the mandate of each director with immediate effect and without providing reasons.
The general meeting can, both at the time of the appointment and at the time of the termination, determine the date when the mandate comes to an end, or allocate a termination fee. Nonetheless, the general meeting can in such case always terminate the mandate of a director on account of a legal reason, without notice period of termination fee.
- 15.8. Each director can resign by a mere notification to the board of directors.
At the request of the company he shall remain in office until the company can reasonably provide for his replacement.
Each termination of the mandate of a director, on account of any reason whatsoever, even when this takes place by operation of law, must be communicated by the company in the Supplements to the Belgian Official Gazette, without prejudice to the right of a resigning director to personally do everything to make the termination of his mandate effective vis-à-vis third parties.
- 15.9. If the position of a director becomes vacant within the board of directors then the remaining directors are entitled to co-opt a new director.
The first following general meeting must confirm the mandate of the co-opted director; upon confirmation, the co-opted director completes the mandate of his predecessor, unless the general meeting resolves otherwise.
Failing confirmation, the mandate of the co-opted director comes to an end after conclusion of the general meeting, without the latter affecting the regularity of the composition of the board of directors up to that moment.
- 15.10. The members of the board of directors and any and all other persons who have or had actual management authority in respect of the company are jointly and severally liable vis-à-vis the company for mistakes made during the performance of their duties and for any and all damages that are the result of violations of the provisions of the Belgian Companies and Associations Code or of the articles of association.
This also applies vis-à-vis third parties to the extent that the mistake made is an extracontractual mistake.

Free translation from the Dutch version. The Dutch version will be the only binding version.

They are, however, released from their liability in terms of the matters they did not participate in, if they reported the alleged mistake to all other members of the board of directors. The said notification, as well as the discussions that it gives cause to, is included in the minutes.

The liability of the directors is limited as provided in Section 57 of Book 2 of the Belgian Companies and Associations Code.

- 15.11. The members of the board of directors are personally and jointly and severally liable for the damages incurred by the company or by third parties as a result of resolutions or acts that
- took place in accordance with article 19 of these articles of association and/or Section 96 of Book 7 of the Belgian Companies and Associations Code, if the said resolution or act provided them, or one of them, an unlawful financial advantage to the detriment of the company, or
 - they agreed with, to the extent that the said resolutions or acts resulted in an unlawful financial disadvantage to the company for the benefit of a company of the group.

Article 16: Authorities of the board of directors

- 16.1. The board of directors is authorised to perform any and all acts that are required or appropriate for the realisation of the objective of the company, except those for which, by law, the general meeting of shareholders is authorised.
- 16.2. When serious and consistent facts can jeopardise the continuity of the business then the board of directors must deliberate on the measures that must be taken in order to guarantee the continuity of the economic activity of the company for a minimum duration of twelve (12) months.

Article 17: Fees

- 17.1. The mandate of a director is remunerated.
- 17.2. The board of directors can allocate fees to the persons charged with the daily management and to the special authorised representatives.

Article 18: Chairmanship of the board of directors

The board of directors elects a chairman from amidst its members and, potentially, a vice-chairman.

If the chairman is unable to attend then he is, if so required, replaced by the vice-chairman or by another director.

Article 19: Conflict of interests

- 19.1. If a director has a direct or indirect interest of a patrimonial nature that is contrary to the interest of the company in respect of a resolution or an act that pertains to the authorities of the board of directors, he must act in accordance with Section 96 of Book 7 of the Belgian Companies and Associations Code.
- 19.2. The director with this kind of conflict of interests cannot participate in the deliberations of the board of directors about the said acts or resolutions, and can neither vote in connection therewith.
- 19.3. If all directors have this kind of conflict of interests, the resolution or the act is presented to the general meeting; if the general meeting approves the resolution or the fact then the board of directors can execute it.

Article 20: Meeting of the board of directors - Decision-making

- 20.1. The board of directors meets after having been convened by the chairman or, in case of his absence, by the vice-chairman or, in case of his absence, any other director, as often as required by the interest of the company, and also within fourteen (14) days after a corresponding request of at least two (2) directors.

Except for circumstances where the board of directors must be called urgently, which circumstances must be explained in the minutes of the said meeting, the convening notices are sent at least five (5) days prior to the meeting.

The convening notice contains the agenda.

The meeting is held at the seat of the company or at any other place designated in the convening notice.

The board is presided by the chairman or, in case of his absence, by the vice-chairman or, in case of his absence, by any other director.

20.2. The board of directors can only deliberate about and resolve on matters that were mentioned on the agenda and only on the condition that at least half of its members are present or validly represented at the meeting.

20.3. Moreover, directors who cannot physically be present at the meeting can nonetheless participate in the deliberations and votes with the help of means of telecommunication, e.g. a telephone or video conference, on the condition that all participants in the meeting can communicate directly with all other participants.

The persons who participate in the meeting through the said means of telecommunication are deemed to be present.

The minutes of the meeting clearly specify what directors participated in the deliberations and votes and in what manner.

20.4. The board of directors can only deliberate about and resolve on matters that are not mentioned on the agenda if all members of the board of directors are present at the meeting and agree with the same.

The said agreement is deemed to have been given when, according to the minutes, no objections were made.

20.5. Each director can grant one of his colleagues authorisation to represent him at a specific meeting of the board of directors and to vote for and in his place through any means of communication whatsoever, which can be converted into a printed document that bears his signature (where digital signatures are also allowed in accordance with Section 1322 second paragraph of the Belgian Civil Code), except in the instances where it regards an authentic deed.

In these circumstances the director that gave such authorization is included amongst those present.

A director can only represent one fellow member of the board.

20.6. The resolutions of the board of directors are adopted by simple majority of the votes.

In case of a tie vote, the director who presides the meeting has a casting vote, except if the board of directors consists of only two members.

20.7. Unanimous written resolution

The resolutions of the board of directors can be adopted by unanimous written resolution of all directors.

At the request of one or more directors the chairman sends a document to all directors by post, facsimile, email or any other means of communication foreseen in Section 2281 of the Belgian Civil Code in which the proposed resolutions are elaborated, with the request to return the document, dated and signed, to the address of the seat of the company within ten (10) calendar days after receipt.

The signatures of the directors (for which digital signatures are also allowed in accordance with Section 1322 paragraph 2 of the Belgian Civil Code) are placed either on one and the same document or on multiple originals of the said document.

Free translation from the Dutch version. The Dutch version will be the only binding version.

A written resolution is deemed to have been adopted on the date of the signature placed last or the date mentioned in the resolution. If the consent with the written resolutions of all directors was not obtained within a period of two (2) weeks after the date of the initial despatch of the document then the said resolutions are deemed not to have been taken.

Article 21: Minutes of the board of directors

- 21.1. Minutes are drawn up of resolutions of the board of directors, which are kept in a special register.
The minutes of the meetings of the board of directors are signed by the chairman and the directors who request to do so.
- 21.2. If the board of directors resolves accordingly then this special register can be kept in electronic form.
- 21.3. Copies of and extracts from the minutes of the board of directors are signed in a valid manner by persons who can represent the company in accordance with article 24 of these articles of association.

Article 22: Day-to-day management - Special and specific powers of attorney

- 22.1. The board of directors can delegate the day-to-day management of the company as well as the representation of the company in terms of the said management to a “day-to-day board of directors”, consisting of one or more persons who all act individually or as a body, such body will be referred to as “Executive Committee”.
The board of directors is encumbered with the supervision of the said day-to-day board of directors.
- 22.2. If a legal person is appointed as a member of the Executive Committee, it shall appoint a natural person as its permanent representative who is charged with the execution of the mandate in the name and for the account of the legal person.
This permanent representative must comply with the same conditions as the legal person and is jointly and severally liable as if he personally executed the relevant mandate in his own name and for his own account. The legal person cannot dismiss the permanent representative without simultaneously appointing a successor.
- 22.3. The day-to-day management comprises any and all acts and the resolutions that do not go beyond the needs of the day-to-day life of the company as well as the acts and the resolutions that, due to the lesser importance that they represent or for the sake of their urgent nature, do not justify the intervention of the board of directors.
The following can, therefore, by no means be qualified as day-to-day management:
- the general policy of the company;
 - any and all acts that are, by law, reserved for the board of directors.
- 22.4. Within the boundaries of their management, and the authorities granted to them, both the board of directors and the Executive Committee can grant special and specific powers of attorney to one or more persons of their choice.

Article 23: Managing director - Advisory committees

- 23.1. The board of directors can appoint one or more of its members as “managing director” and grant them the authorities that the board of directors deems to be appropriate.
The delegated director can, for instance, be appointed as “day-to-day management body”.
