SIBELCO

When you're running a busy ceramics manufacturing operation, it's important to have access to technical expertise to share ideas and solve problems – but it's not always readily available.

TechTalk is a new, easy-to-use digital support service for producers in tiles, sanitaryware, structural ceramics and more. Developed in response to customer demand for practical advice and technical know-how, TechTalk is a direct line to the very best expertise in the minerals industry, at a time to suit you.

Whether you need to solve an urgent problem, improve your product, or discuss your future plans with like-minded experts, Sibelco's ceramics specialists are on hand to help, wherever you are in the world.
